3. The Customer shall be entitled to make modifications to the structure, delivery and delivery date of orders not yet executed, giving reasons for the necessity of making such modifications, and the Supplier shall be obliged to take such modifications into account in the course of performance, provided that they do not jeopardise contractual performance.

5. In the event of a delay in delivery, the Customer shall have the right to apply all legal consequences of the delay or to assert claims. In particular, the Customer shall be entitled to set a period of grace or, if this period expires without result, to claim compensation for all damage caused by the delay in addition to performance; or to claim damages for non-performance instead of performance; or to withdraw from the contract with the legal consequences of withdrawal. If a manufacturer's declaration or a declaration of conformity (CE) is required for the goods in accordance with the European Union directives, the supplier shall prepare it and provide it to the Customer without delay upon request and at its own expense.

The Customer shall inspect the goods upon receipt and shall notify the supplier of any recognisable quality and quantity defects upon receipt of the goods; the Customer shall notify the supplier in writing of any defects in the goods which are not recognisable upon receipt of the goods within 10 working days of receipt of the goods or, in the case of a latent defect, of the discovery of the defect.
2. In the event of defective performance, the Customer shall be entitled to warranty rights based on both the Civil Code and other legislation.
3. The Customer shall be entitled to remedy the defect itself at the supplier's expense if the delay resulting from the supplier's remedy would prejudice the Customer's legitimate interests or if there are other reasons of urgency.
4. The limitation period for claims shall be 36 months from the date of the transfer of the risk of damage, except for the limitation of warranty claims for which the limitation period shall apply as provided in Sections 308, 308/A, 308/B and 308/C of the Civil Code.

Section 8. Product warranty – liability insurance

1. To the extent that the supplier is liable for damage resulting from non-performance, the Customer shall, upon first demand, indemnify the Customer against third party claims to the extent that the cause of the damage arises within the scope of its authority and organisation and to the extent that the Customer is liable to third parties.

Section 9. Property rights

1. The supplier warrants that by performing (delivering), it does not infringe the rights of third parties within Hungary and the EU.
2. If a third party asserts a claim against the Customer for infringement of property rights by way of the supplier's performance, the supplier shall indemnify the Customer against such claims upon first written demand, and the Customer shall not be entitled to enter into any agreement or arrangement with a third party without the supplier's written consent.
3. The supplier's obligation to indemnify shall apply to all expenses and costs necessarily incurred in connection with or resulting from claims by third parties.
4. The above obligation of the supplier shall not apply if the supplier has produced the object of the supply on the basis of drawings, models or corresponding specifications or data supplied by the customer and does not know or does not need to know that it has infringed a property right in respect of the products it has developed.

Section 10. Reservation of ownership – provision – tools – confidentiality

1. All goods, objects or tools made available by the Customer to the supplier shall remain the property of the Customer (hereinafter referred to as reserved goods).
The supplier shall process or transform them for the Customer. If the reserved goods are processed with other items not owned by the Customer, the Customer acquires partial ownership of the new goods in proportion to the value of its own reserved goods (purchase price plus sales tax) in relation to the other processed goods at the time of processing.
2. If the reserved goods provided by the Customer are mixed inseparably with other objects not owned by the Customer, the Customer acquires partial ownership of the new goods in proportion to the value of its own reserved goods (purchase price plus sales tax) in relation to the other mixed goods at the time of mixing. If the mixing takes place in such a way that the supplier's goods are to be considered the main product, the supplier must transfer its ownership share of the product to the Customer.

3. The supplier is required to use the tools provided by the Customer exclusively for the production of the goods ordered. The supplier shall insure the tools belonging to the Customer against fire, water and theft at its own expense for the value specified by the Customer.

At the same time, the supplier hereby assigns, upon acceptance of these General Terms and Conditions of Purchase by the supplier, any claims for damages arising from this insurance to the Customer, which assignment is accepted by the Customer.

The Supplier is obliged to carry out, at its own expense and as necessary, any arising maintenance and inspection work on tools belonging to the Customer, as well as all care and repair works. The supplier shall immediately notify the Customer of any malfunctions affecting the tools, and the supplier shall be liable for any damage resulting from failure to do so.

4. The supplier shall keep all received diagrams, drawings, calculations and other documentation and information strictly confidential. It may disclose them to third parties only with the express written permission of the Customer. This obligation of confidentiality shall be incumbent on the Supplier after the performance of the contract and shall only cease when the know-how made available in the diagrams, drawings, calculations and other documentation provided by the Customer becomes public knowledge.
5. If the provisions of this paragraph 1. and/or the insurance rights to which the Customer is entitled pursuant to clause 2 exceed the purchase price of the reserved goods not yet paid for by more than 10%, the Customer shall, at the supplier's request, release its insurance rights at its own discretion.

If, as a result of force majeure events (such as riots, acts of public authorities, natural disasters or other unavoidable events) occurring after the conclusion of the contract, the Customer's demand for goods ordered by a third party is significantly reduced for reasons beyond the Customer's control, the Customer is entitled to unilaterally withdraw from the contract concluded with the supplier, in whole or in part; or be entitled to require the supplier to perform at a later date than the agreed time for performance, without the supplier being entitled to claim any remedy against the Customer on that account, not including where the force majeure event lasts for an insignificant period.
